SUBJECT:

Stroke of luck. Noone knows Curri but one of our students worked at stage 73 and you could write there: 321 E. 73rd St., NYC. Our business manager, Judy Burgess, is also very interested in the script. Should you be fortunate enough to get a loan copy, might we borrow it for a day or two?

Incidentally, there is another play on the same subject: Morning, by Terence McNally. It's the first in a series of 3 one-acts. Published in paperback (in stock at Bookstore) under title of Morning, Noon & Night. The Mafia is considering doing it.
